Managed Document Review

Overview

MCS delivers the full life cycle of EDRM services, including an end-to-end, defensible, accurate and cost effective Managed Document Review solution. With a process honed over hundreds of reviews, we're able to remove the unpredictability and deliver complete accuracy, transparency and defensibility. Flexible pricing, including per-document and per-gig, offers unrivaled cost control, aligned incentives and maximum productivity.

Aligned Incentives

Our ability to deliver fast, accurate and low-cost Managed Review is attributable to a proprietary screening of skills testing, and metrics tracking system looking at accuracy and productivity. As performance is tracked at every stage of the review, we're able to reward and incentivize top-tier review attorneys with better pay for producing better results at higher speeds.

Cost Predictability

MCS's per-document pricing provides an unmatched level of cost control and transparency, and negates the risks associated with cost overruns. Fixed cost pricing at MCS includes all quality control (QC) and project management costs.

Risk Management

MCS utilizes a proprietary document review "road map" and QC processes that are the most comprehensive in the industry. With highly vetted approaches to batch QC, along with statistical, targeted searches and validation techniques, the risk of any privilege or material documents being released is minimized.

Review Model

By providing review teams with data proven quickness and quality, along with our highly controlled management systems, the results allow us to create faster moving and more cost-effective teams than industry averages.

Quality Control

At MCS, we use highly trained Review Managers and proprietary review management metrics on each Document Review in order to allow unparalleled levels of leveraged control for firms and clients. In order to maximize defensibility as standards emerge in the Document Review industry, while also delivering the highest possible levels of accuracy and speed, the Review Managers follow this proven methodology. We have found that by following these proven standards the document reviews are often delivered ahead of schedule, under budget and without material errors. We take great pride in our expertise in managing the process of document reviews for firms and companies, by leaving the substantive control of the document review in the hands of the client while we remove the difficulty and stress of day to day management.

Predictive Coding & TAR Expertise

MCS has many years of in-depth knowledge and practice utilizing Predictive Coding and TAR. We have unique workflows designed to integrate with review models that will save you time from reviewing inconsequential documents and make sure coding decisions are consistent across population of documents.

INSPIRED REVIEW

MCS delivers Document Review via our partnership with Inspired Review.
